HEARING ON TRAIN JANUARY 29

WASHINGTON - Pros and cons of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's plan to discontinue its deficit-ridden Gulf Coast commuter trains will be heard Jan. 29 by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Late Friday, the federal agency scheduled a one-day public hearing as part of its investigation of L&N's proposal to remove the two trains (No. 9 and No. 12) from regular runs between Pass Christian and New Orleans.

The hearing will be held in New Orleans at the new federal office building, 701 Loyola Ave., at 9:30 a. m. The presiding government official will be ICC's examiner, William J. Kane.

In a telephone conversation with Kane, it was pointed out that a government hearing in such a case is not what the public most often thinks it is. It is not a court, he said. Commuters and others who protested the railroad's plan will not be subpoenaed or in anyway forced to appear or offer testimony.

Anyone has the right to appear at the hearing and request to be heard, either in support of the railroad or in support of the "protestants", he said.

However, Kane pointed out, the purpose of the Jan. 29 session will be to obtain all pertinent information concerning the discontinuance of the trains and not to gather repetitious and bulky testimony.

While the hearing has been scheduled for one day only, he said, if, during the course of the session it is found that more than one day is necessary, the hearing will be continued.

ICC's official probe of the train discontinuance is being conducted as a result of strong opposition launched by commuters and public and state officials who feel, as they have felt for some years past, that the two trains are "an absolute necessity for the continued growth of the Mississippi Gulf Coast area. "

L&N argues - as it has for some years, that continuation of the service cannot be justified since "the bare-bones expenses of operating Nos. 9 and 12 are more than twice the total revenues of these trains."

Two very important aspects to be considered in the case, ICC officials said, will be the railroad's method of distributing costs to the sole operation of the two trains and the potential growth and utilization of the communities which they serve.

HEARING ON TRAIN JANUARY 29

WASHINGTON - Pros and cons of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's plan to discontinue its deficit-ridden Gulf Coast commuter trains will be heard Jan. 29 by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Late Friday, the federal agency scheduled a one-day public hearing as part of its investigation of L&N's proposal to remove the two trains (No. 9 and No. 12) from regular runs between Pass Christian and New Orleans.

The hearing will be held in New Orleans at the new federal office building, 701 Loyola Ave., at 9:30 a. m. The presiding government official will be ICC's examiner, William J. Kane.

In a telephone conversation with Kane, it was pointed out that a government hearing in such a case is not what the public most often thinks it is. It is not a court, he said. Commuters and others who protested the railroad's plan will not be subpoenaed or in anyway forced to appear or offer testimony.

Anyone has the right to appear at the hearing and request to be heard, either in support of the railroad or in support of the "protestants", he said.

However, Kane pointed out, the purpose of the Jan. 29 session will be to obtain all pertinent information concerning the discontinuance of the trains and not to gather repetitious and bulky testimony.

While the hearing has been scheduled for one day only, he said, if, during the course of the session it is found that more than one day is necessary, the hearing will be continued.

ICC's official probe of the train discontinuance is being conducted as a result of strong opposition launched by commuters and public and state officials who feel, as they have felt for some years past, that the two trains are "an absolute necessity for the continued growth of the Mississippi Gulf Coast area."

L&N argues - as it has for some years, that continuation of the service cannot be justified since "the bare-bones expenses of operating Nos. 9 and 12 are more than twice the total revenues of these trains."

Two very important aspects to be considered in the case, ICC officials said, will be the railroad's method of distributing costs to the sole operation of the two trains and the potential growth and utilization of the communities which they serve.

MTO HAS NEW LABOR DISPUTE

The second labor dispute in less than a month has halted construction of a laboratory - engineering building at the space agency's Mississippi Test Operations.

A spokesman at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration facility said electricians employed by Warrior Construction Co., Inc., walked off their jobs in the latest dispute, idling some 80 workers.

This is the same firm and same project involved in the last work stoppage at the sprawling static test center. The walkout occurred Dec. 11 and the workers returned to their jobs Dec. 16 under terms of an agreement, reached by a federal mediator, between the construction firm and the Building Trades Council at Gulfport.

The NASA spokesman said the federal mediator is aware of the new walkout and has indicated a meeting will be held Jan. 21.

In the meantime, the spokesman said most construction work at the test center has been halted due to weather conditions as heavy rains, following a record snowfall, turned the area into a mud bath.

LARGEST PAID CIRCULATION IN HANCOCK COUNTY

Entered as Second Class Matter in the Postoffice at Bay St. Louis, Act of March 3, 1879.

YEARLY REPORT OF RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

Mrs. Winthrop Baker, chairman of entertainment and supplies, and member of Gulf Hospitals Volunteer Council, reports 1963 a successful year for local Red Cross volunteer workers, despite the fact that the work of the Grey Ladies was considerably less because of transportation difficulties suffered by Miss Alberta Beyer and Mrs. V. J. Piazza, who previously contributed so many hours. Mrs. Walter Hava, who was also absent from her weekly visits at the Gulfport and Keesler hospitals because of an injury sustained in an automobile accident, is back.

These reasons accounted for only 100 hours through November of 1963, as compared with 600 and more in previous years.

Miss Patricia Thompson, Hancock County chairman of volunteers, in the short period she has been active in the local chapter, has held a grey lady class at Gulfport and given certificates to Mesdames G. C. Prewitt, John Middleton and Edward Thomson, who will work regularly with the program.

Mrs. Baker cited articles the volunteers request such as toys, radios, old appliances, old jewelry, colored common glass, old nylon stockings and many other items used by the veterans as an aid in both mental and physical therapy.

New articles, also postage stamps, toothpaste, pocket combs, shaving cream, writing tablets and envelopes, instant coffee, homemade cookies and a number of other items from people who would like to help the volunteers with their work with the veterans, flyers and workers at Keesler Field Hospital, Mrs. Baker added, would be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Baker in making her report thanked her co-workers, Mesdames Prewitt, Middleton, T. T. Reboul, Joseph Kern Jr., and many unnamed people who contributed time and materials towards the program. Thanks were also expressed to the women of the local organizations who entertain approximately 30 veterans each month with parties. Participating organizations are the Missionary Society of the Baptist Church who entertain in January; Womans Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, February; St. Joseph Academy Mothers Club, March; Order of Eastern Star, April; Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Auxiliary, May; Circles One and Two, Christ Church Episcopal Guild, June; Ladies of Methodist Church of Waveland and Clermont Harbor, July; Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle No.167, August; American Legion Auxiliary, September; Women's Auxiliary of Pass Christian Yacht Club, October; Morning and Afternoon Circles of the women of the Presbyterian Church, November and Bay-Waveland Garden Club, December.

The Garden Club holds its party at the Gulfport Hospital where they serve refreshments and distribute Christmas gifts.

Mrs. David Markey and members of the Home Demonstration Club made slides for Biloxi Hospital veterans with materials donated by D. H. Holmes.

Mrs. Baker was high in her praise of the water-safety and first aid work done by the chairman Mrs. P. E. Porter Jr.

Hundreds of children, she concluded, are learning to swim under this program.

ANALYSIS OF MISSISSIPPI ECONOMY TO BE REVEALED

Among the economic goals of the State of Mississippi are full employment and an accelerated growth rate of per capita income. These goals and other qualities of a healthier state economy are presently being sought through the individual efforts of many Mississippians and through several economic development action programs provided or planned by state and local agencies. Though there is widespread desire to raise quickly Mississippi's economic status, only limited funds are available for economic development action programs. The desire for speed and the limited resources available make imperative the most efficient effective use of the available resources.

A thorough, current understanding of the structure of the Mississippi economy is valuable, if not prerequisite, to rapid development, for it is only through the knowledge of our state that our development efforts can be aimed in the most effective direction.

Recognizing the importance of this structural understanding to the state's economic development effort, the Mississippi Industrial and Technological Research Commission began, in the fall of 1961, a program of continuing basic economic research. As the core of this program, work was begun on a comprehensive analysis of the Mississippi economy. Research Commission funds allocated to the project were matched under a research contract with the Area Redevelopment Administration of the United States Department of Commerce. As the study began, two staff members were assigned to the project on a part time basis, and have continued on the study since that time.

During the summer of 1962, two graduate students were employed to assist in the collection of data from the approximately 300 Mississippi manufacturers furnishing information for the study.

Using "Input-Output" analysis as its basic analytical technique, the study utilizes the responses of these individual manufacturers and available published data to describe the flow of goods and services in the Mississippi economy. The economy is represented by fifty-three "sectors" or "industries", each representing an indentifiable and measurable group of commodities or services. Agricultural activity is represented by such sectors as "Cotton", "Soybeans" and "Broilers"; manufacturing by such sectors as "Apparel and Garments", "Wooden Containers" and Electrical Equipment" and trade with producers outside the state "Exports" and "Imports".

In several ways, input-output analysis provides a framework in which data can be developed so that alternative actions in several problem areas can be investigated. First, the study highlights the types and volume of commodities being brought into the state for use in homes and industries. By identifying and measuring the flows of these imported commodities, it is hoped that the production of some of these items may prove feasible in Mississippi, thus allowing the substitution of Mississippi products for out of state purchases. In like fashion, the study will indicate the types and volumes of commodities being shipped from Mississippi producers to customers outside the state. The identification and measurement of these flows may indicate commodities which could be further processed before being "exported" from the state, thereby providing additional income in the state through the added, complimentary process.

The "export" and "import" data also permit an industry-by-industry evaluation of dependence on out-of-state markets for income and the measurement of imports required to support the production of each industry.

However, imports and exports are only one segment of the study. The 1961 Mississippi markets for products of the fifty-three industry classifications are detailed on a sector-by-sector basis. Of particular interest to industrial development personnel and other state leaders will be the identification of industries which are apparent "road blocks" to the rapid development of the state's economy. The identification of these industries coupled with detailed market data should be valuable when choosing the most productive path for allocation of development resources. From other data, income impact caused by a change in Mississippi production of a given commodity can now be evaluated.

In the course of the study, much data was developed by the Commission staff through the cooperation of hundreds of Mississippi operations. Most of this data was previously unavailable to researchers. The study does not claim to answer all questions concerning the Mississippi economy or to solve all economic problems. When coupled with existing and planned action programs, it can, however, accelerate the effectiveness of these programs and thus assist materially in raising the income level of Mississippi.

DECEMBER WELFARE ASSISTANCE DECREASED FROM NOVEMBER

Commissioner Fred A. Ross said today the Department of Public Welfare assistance payments for December totalled $4,437,135, a decrease of $6,695 from November. Old Age assistance and aid to the blind programs showed decreases in number of recipients while aid to dependent children and aid to the permanently and totally disabled programs showed increases. The overall net decrease was 61 persons.

December figures showed an average monthly grant of $37.18 was made to 75,544 aged people; 3,041 blind people received average monthly grants of $43.11; there were 64,291 dependent children who received an average of $12.06; and 16,505 permanently and totally disabled received $43.71 as average grants.

Private hospitals throughout Mississippi received $116,284.20 in state and federal funds for 1,058 hospitalized old age assistance recipients. Each recipient is eligible for a maximum of 20 hospital days each year.

There were 721 children in foster boarding homes at a cost of $28,353.57 paid from federal, state and local funds. Most of these children are dependent or neglected.

The Commodity Program through the cooperation of the County Boards of Supervisors with the Welfare Department distributed surplus food with an estimated value of $1,136,000 to 192,280 needy persons. Counties have the option whether to distribute to welfare clients only or to other needy individuals, and families.

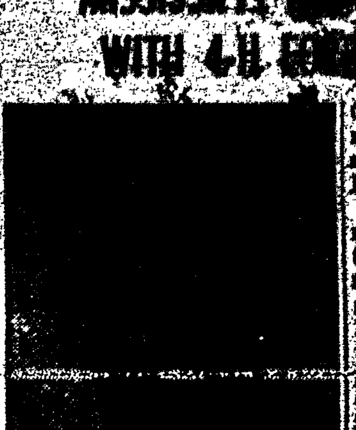
MISSISSIPPI [illegible] WITH 4-H [illegible]



Dennis Rester

Dennis Rester, 17, Poplarville, lived up to the 4-H Club motto—to make the best better—when he won top state and sectional awards in the forestry program for 1963. He was selected for honors by the Cooperative Extension Service.

A freshman at Pearl River Junior College, he is the son of Heber Rester. He won a fountain pen and pencil set as state winner and a trip to the 42nd National 4-H Club Congress in [illegible]

Rester was [illegible] member Mississippi [illegible] to the congress held in the [illegible] rad Hilton hotel. The [illegible] gates from every state and Puerto Rico visited the International Live Stock and Dairy [illegible] position, the Chicago Museum of Natural History and of Science and Industry. The boys tour a modern tractor plant while the girls go to the famed Chicago Art Institute.

President of the Poplarville Senior 4-H Club and the Pearl River County 4-H Council, Rester said he has increased the value of his father's farm by planting 19,000 pine seedlings on unused land. He also plowed fire breaks around them and destroyed undesirable trees.

"My forestry project taught me how to manage our farm woodland and how to protect it from fire and insects," he said. "My county agent estimates the value of my forestry project exceeds $15,000."

WEATHER LOSSES MAY BE DEDUCTIBLE FROM INCOME TAX

People throughout the State of Mississippi have experienced some unusual weather within the past week, and as a result may have sustained some property losses. Those who have sustained losses as a result of the freeze were reminded today that such losses may be casualty losses deductible for income tax purposes. This announcement was made today by J. L. Enochs, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Jackson District.

Since casualty loss deductions, like other income tax deductions, must be substantiated, taxpayers should at this time start securing the necessary records to establish the amount of their deductible losses. A taxpayer claiming a casualty loss may be called upon to show:

1. The nature of the casualty and when it occurred;
2. That the loss was the direct result of the casualty;
3. That he was the owner of the property;
4 The cost or other basis of the property, evidenced by purchase contract, deed, etc. (improvements should be supported by checks, receipts, etc.)
5. Depreciation allowed or allowable, if any;
[illegible] Value before and after casualty and to be received for damages to the property, including the cost of repairs, restoration, and clean up provided without cost by disaster relief agencies or others.

In general, the amount of a casualty loss for income tax purposes is the lesser of (1) the decrease in fair market value resulting from the casualty or (2) the adjusted basis of the property (cost, less depreciation allowed or allowable). In some cases repair and cleaning up costs may be used as evidence of the decrease in value of the property if (1) they are necessary to restore the property to its precasualty condition, (2) the amount spent for repairs is not excessive, (3) they do no more than take care of the damage suffered, and (4) the value of the property after repairs is no more than its value before the casualty. Amounts expended for protection against future casualties are not deductible but should be capitalized as permanent improvements. An example would be the cost of covering water pipes to prevent future freezing.

The amount of the casualty loss, computed in accordance with the foregoing rules, must be reduced by the amount of any insurance or other compensation received or expected to be received. Amounts received by you from your employer or from disaster relief agencies, in the form of cash or property for the purpose of restoring or rehabilitating property lost or damaged in a disaster, reduces the amount of the deductible loss.

A do-it-yourself retirement plan that really works

Just a few pennies a day invested now in U.S. Savings Bonds can help you build security for the future.

Here's a retirement plan you can set up yourself, administer yourself with no fees or expenses, and go into with absolute confidence.

Start with Series E Bonds

You begin by buying E Bonds where you bank, or automatically on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. When you hold them for 17 years, 9 months, you get almost double your money back—$1.93 for every $1 invested.

When you retire, you can exchange your E Bonds for H Bonds. H Bonds pay interest to you semi-annually in cash—at 3.75% when held to maturity. There's no charge for trading. And the interest you accumulated before the trade is not taxable until you cash in your H Bonds.

A riskless plan

A U.S. Savings Bonds retirement plan is completely without risk. Your money keeps on growing, guaranteed by the Government. You can get it anytime you want—with interest. And if your Bonds are ever lost or destroyed, the Treasury replaces them free.

Why not look into this plan today?

NOTHING IS IMPOSSIBLE

Never has the future seemed more exciting . . . or more disturbing! Today we dream of flights to far stars; about intelligent life on other planets. We look at our own earth with clear eyes, and discuss the possibility of world brotherhood, world government, world peace.

Are these things going to happen? We don't know. But we do know that nothing is impossible.

In fact, Jesus tells us that all things are possible with God. He wants us to understand that God is infinite power, as well as infinite love. The foolishness of men cannot affect God's plans for the universe, or His love for each one of us.

Faith is what we need . . . faith in the certainties upon which the Christian Church is founded. When we put our lives in God's hands, there is no need to view the future with doubt or dread. All will be well.

The number of permanent NASA and prime contractor personnel at Michoud doubled during 1963, climbing from 4,400 to 9,000. Six thousand of these employees are assigned to the main Michoud facility; 2,800 are now temporarily housed in leased office space in downtown New Orleans, and 200 are located at Michoud's Computer Operations Office in Slidell, La.

Construction reached a new peak at Michoud during the year, with a total of 79 contracts, valued at more than $24 million, being awarded for construction of new and modification of existing facilities. Fifty eight of these projects have been completed.

Most notable of the projects begun in 1963 were a two-story engineering and office building; a chemical waste disposal system; a storm drainage system; a high pressure test facility for Saturn V booster components, and a barge dock.

This was also a banner year for visitors, with more than 45,000 calling on various NASA-contractor offices at Michoud. More than 90,000 persons have visited the facility since January 1, 1962.

...CONCERNS INCREASE 2% IN 1963

"There are 2% more business concerns in Hancock County today than they were last year," says Eugene F. Schenk, district manager of the New Orleans office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Basing his facts upon a physical count of the January, 1964 edition of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book, Mr. Schenk points out that in 1963, 191 businesses were listed in Hancock County and today 195 businesses are listed - an increase of 2 per cent.

According to Mr. Schenk, each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to approximately three million business concerns - to the corner grocery store worth a few thousand dollars as well as to the businesses worth millions.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers, and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would be higher than three million quoted above.

When the owner or officer of a business enterprise, or his accountant, fills in and mails his financial statement to Dun & Bradstreet, it becomes a part of the credit report on his business and a factor in determining the credit rating of his business. Mailing the statement, rather than waiting for the Dun & Bradstreet reporter's call means a concern's important suppliers will quickly have the latest facts on which to make credit and sales decisions. When the Dun & Bradstreet reporter receives a businessman's financial statement in advance of his periodic call, he can make a more detailed analysis of the financial condition of the business and discuss its operation more intelligently.

Back of each listing of a business in the Reference Book is a Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes the following: a history of the business (who owns it, who runs it, and how long it has been operating); a description of what the business does and how it does it; a financial section which usually includes the latest financial statement; and a record of how the business pays its bills.

While credit reports are primarily used by businessmen who want to evaluate the credit risk of a business before shipping or selling, insurance underwriters also use credit reports to review risks, rates and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.

FERTILIZE NOTES

If you apply phosphate and potash in band application on row crop fields of heavy soils in the fall, only little will be lost by spring.

Do not apply nitrogen in the fall. Neither should you apply phosphate and potash on light to medium textured soils.

With the shortage of winter grazing and in many areas, stored feed, farmers should seriously consider topdressing oats and other small grains with around 45 pounds per acre of nitrogen.

With nitrogen applied the grazing crops will grow fast during warm periods of the winter, depending on moisture available. This is especially important for dairy farmers who may be short on feed.

PLANNED DAIRY BREEDING —

There is more to planning a breeding program for your dairy cows than just selecting a good bull to be used in the herd. A good breeding program should include: Breeding all heifers at a time so they will freshen at or near the beginning of your base milk period.

After an animal freshens, wait at least 60 days before breeding her back.

Breed your cows and heifers to bulls of the same breed. Keep a barn record of freshening dates, heat periods and breeding dates.

Properly identify all females in the herd to help prevent inbreeding. Knowing the animals by tattoo, chain number or ear tag is necessary for good herd management.

Good feeding and management are important for high conception and good herd health.

Think about artificial breeding. Few dairymen can afford to own the kinds of bulls available in the Mississippi Artificial breeding program. The program offers proved bulls in all of the major dairy breeds:

Jerseys - 10 proved bulls with daughters averaging up to 11,800 pounds of milk and 671 pounds fat.

Holstein - 11 proved bulls with daughters averages up to 17,274 pounds of milk and 654 pounds fat.

Guernsey - five proved sires with daughter averages up to 10,800 pounds of milk and 553 pounds fat. ?

Ayrshire and Brown Swiss proved bulls with daughter averages up to almost 14,000 pounds milk.

Costs of artificial breeding in Mississippi are the lowest in the Nation. It is far cheaper to use the artificial breeding program than it is to own and maintain a good herd bull.

FARM RECORDS

Right now is a good time for you to check up on your farm records and bring them up-to-date.

Records are vital, not only for sound business management, but for filing income tax reports.

See your local county agent for help with your farm records and more information on why you should keep adequate records.

SAFETY NOTES

Highways get more dangerous during winter. Step up your safety precautions. Make sure that your windshield wiper is doing its job. Check your brakes and make sure that your car, or truck is in top mechanical condition before getting on the highway.

... plate "Goldwater" dinner has been slated for Jan. 29 by Mississippi Republicans following the Arizona senator's announcement he would seek the GOP presidential nomination.

In an announcement Saturday, the state GOP said Gov. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma will be featured speaker.

The dinner will also feature a closed circuit TV presentation featuring, among others, Goldwater, former President Dwight Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard Nixon.

LUMBER INDUSTRY CALLS FOR SKILL

Representatives of the Mississippi lumber industry, in cooperation with the Agricultural and Industrial Board, have set up a special study committee to develop procedures for establishing a program to train skilled workers for the industry. Creation of the committee followed a meeting in Jackson attended by representatives of the lumber industry, junior college officials, the Mississippi Forestry Commission and the Agricultural and Industrial Board.

Spokesmen at the meeting pointed out that the machinery and equipment in the lumber industry today is more complex than ever before and that costly saw mill equipment needs properly trained maintenance personnel. They pointed out that proper maintenance would lower costs of operation.

Fred Read, agricultural representative on the A & I Board staff, said the proposed training program "has tremendous possibilities. To my knowledge, there is no such program at present anywhere in the Southeast. There is the possibility that such a program in Mississippi would draw trainees from all parts of the South."

... Life is full of deadlines. Failure to meet some of these deadlines may cause loss of jobs, failure of a business, or even the loss of lives when needed health measures are put off too long.

How does this affect your social security? Failing to meet the deadline of checking up on your social security at age 65 may cost you money, and sometimes this can amount to thousands of dollars. The reason for this is that regardless of how much you earn, there are times when all or some benefits can be paid; but they can only be paid for one year retroactive to your effective filing date for benefits. Therefore, a person could file his social security claim when he is 65, 66, or later and lose some benefits for two, three, or four years back.

Reverend Charles R. Johnson, Headmaster of Christ Episcopal Day School, has just been informed that the property at 800 South Beach, Bay St. Louis, has been deeded to Christ Episcopal Day School. The gift is made in honor of Mrs. E. C. Samuel in recognition of her unselfish devotion and efforts toward the establishment and development of this school. Many local residents will recall the property as the Klock Hotel.

After standing empty for a number of years, the property was purchased in 1942 by Mr. George Stevenson. Assisted by a single employee, Stevenson rolled up his sleeves and set about a renovation of the main building. Upon completion, he had spacious and comfortable living quarters for his family on the ground floor, plus six apartments - two on the ground floor and four on the second floor The third floor was used primarily for storage.

Everyone connected with Christ Episcopal Day School are certainly most grateful to the donor for such an overwhelming vote of confidence in their work. It is a tremendous and well-deserved tribute to Mrs. Samuel, who has indeed worked hard to help with the school from its inception fifteen years ago.
